Drawings

New corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in this application because the figures are clearly informal, having hand drawn lead lines and characters. Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsman outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The requirement for corrected drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over White (US 200).

Regarding claim 1, White discloses a system for simultaneous ACLR measurements comprising: a down conversion system for receiving a wideband signal as an input and providing a corresponding wideband signal as an output; a wideband channel having the corresponding wideband signal as an input and providing a high speed, low resolution data stream as an output; a narrow band channel having the corresponding wideband signal as an input and providing a low speed, high resolution data stream as an output; and means for processing the respective data streams to produce the simultaneous ACLR measurements. [0017-0018, 0050] Though not expressly shown in the figures, it is disclosed that the arrangement may have multiple paths through the circuitry for different signals for different types of signals. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention that the paths may be of different types to promote diverse signaling in the system for interoperability over more systems, each path needing IMD detection.

Regarding claim 2, White discloses the system as recited in claim 1 wherein the narrow band channel comprises: a tunable IF frequency converter having the corresponding wideband signal as an input and providing a narrow band signal as an output; and a low speed, high resolution ADC having the narrow band signal as an input and providing the low speed, high resolution data stream as an output. [0036-0038]

Regarding claim 3, White discloses the system as recited in claims 1 or 2 wherein the wideband channel comprises: an IF frequency converter having the corresponding wideband signal as an input and providing a converted wideband signal as an output; and a high speed, low resolution ADC having the converted wideband signal as an input and providing the high speed, low resolution data stream as an output. [0036-0038]

Regarding claim 4, White discloses the system as recited in claim 3 wherein the corresponding wideband signal input to the tunable IF frequency converter comprises the converted wideband signal. [0036-0038]

wideband signal as an input and providing the high speed, low resolution data stream as an output. [0036-0038]
